BRIDGES

When you're weary, feeling small, when tears are in your eyes, I will dry them all. I'm on your side when times get rough, and friends just can't be found, like a bridge over troubled water, I will lay me down. Like a bridge over troubled water, I will lay me down . . . I will lay me down . . . When you're down and out, when you're on the street, when evening falls so hard, I will comfort you. I'll take your part. When darkness comes, and pain is all around, like a bridge over troubled water I will lay me down. Like a bridge over troubled water, I will lay me down. Sail on silvergirl, sail on by. Your time has come to shine. All your dreams are on their way. See how they shine. If you need a friend, I'm sailing right behind. Like a bridge over troubled water, I will ease your mind. Like a bridge over troubled water, I will ease your mind. Like a bridge over troubled water, I will ease your mind.

Paul Simon, 1969

HONORS, AWARDS, ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The following four pages are reserved for recognizing those students at CHS who have gained a special honor or award in the past year. It is unfortunate that many students, especially Seniors, receive awards such as scholarships late in the school year. The timing of the Book and Sword's publication makes it impossible to recognize these students. It goes without saying, however, that CHS is proud of all students here who earn rewards and or recognition for their accomplishments. We give a special honor to all those students who will graduate from the halls of Cathedral this year.

The Pittsburgh Diocesan Youth Council is composed of high school juniors and Seniors. Each council member serves for a term of two years. The purpose of the council is to communicate the hopes and needs of Catholic youth to Catholic Youth Ministry; to provide consultation to the CYM staff regarding department programs and activities; to participate in and assist with occasional diocesan projects and functions and to provide two Pittsburgh youth representatives to the Catholic Youth Council of Pa. CHS is proud to have Ann Crawford as a member.

Karen Rollins was granted a Governor's Scholarship to I.U.P.

At the Region 24 FBLA competition in 1986, Mary Rost took 1st in Public Speaking. Terri Pisarek took 1st in Shorthand I.

Anne Walters received a prestigious award at CMU's History Day.

Phil DiNardo was chosen Miss Columbia by the Sons of Columbus in 1986.

Mary Lupinacci, Nancy Sciullo and Jane Schwarz received a 2nd place rating at CMU's 1986 History Day. They received an "excellent" at PSU.

Children of War

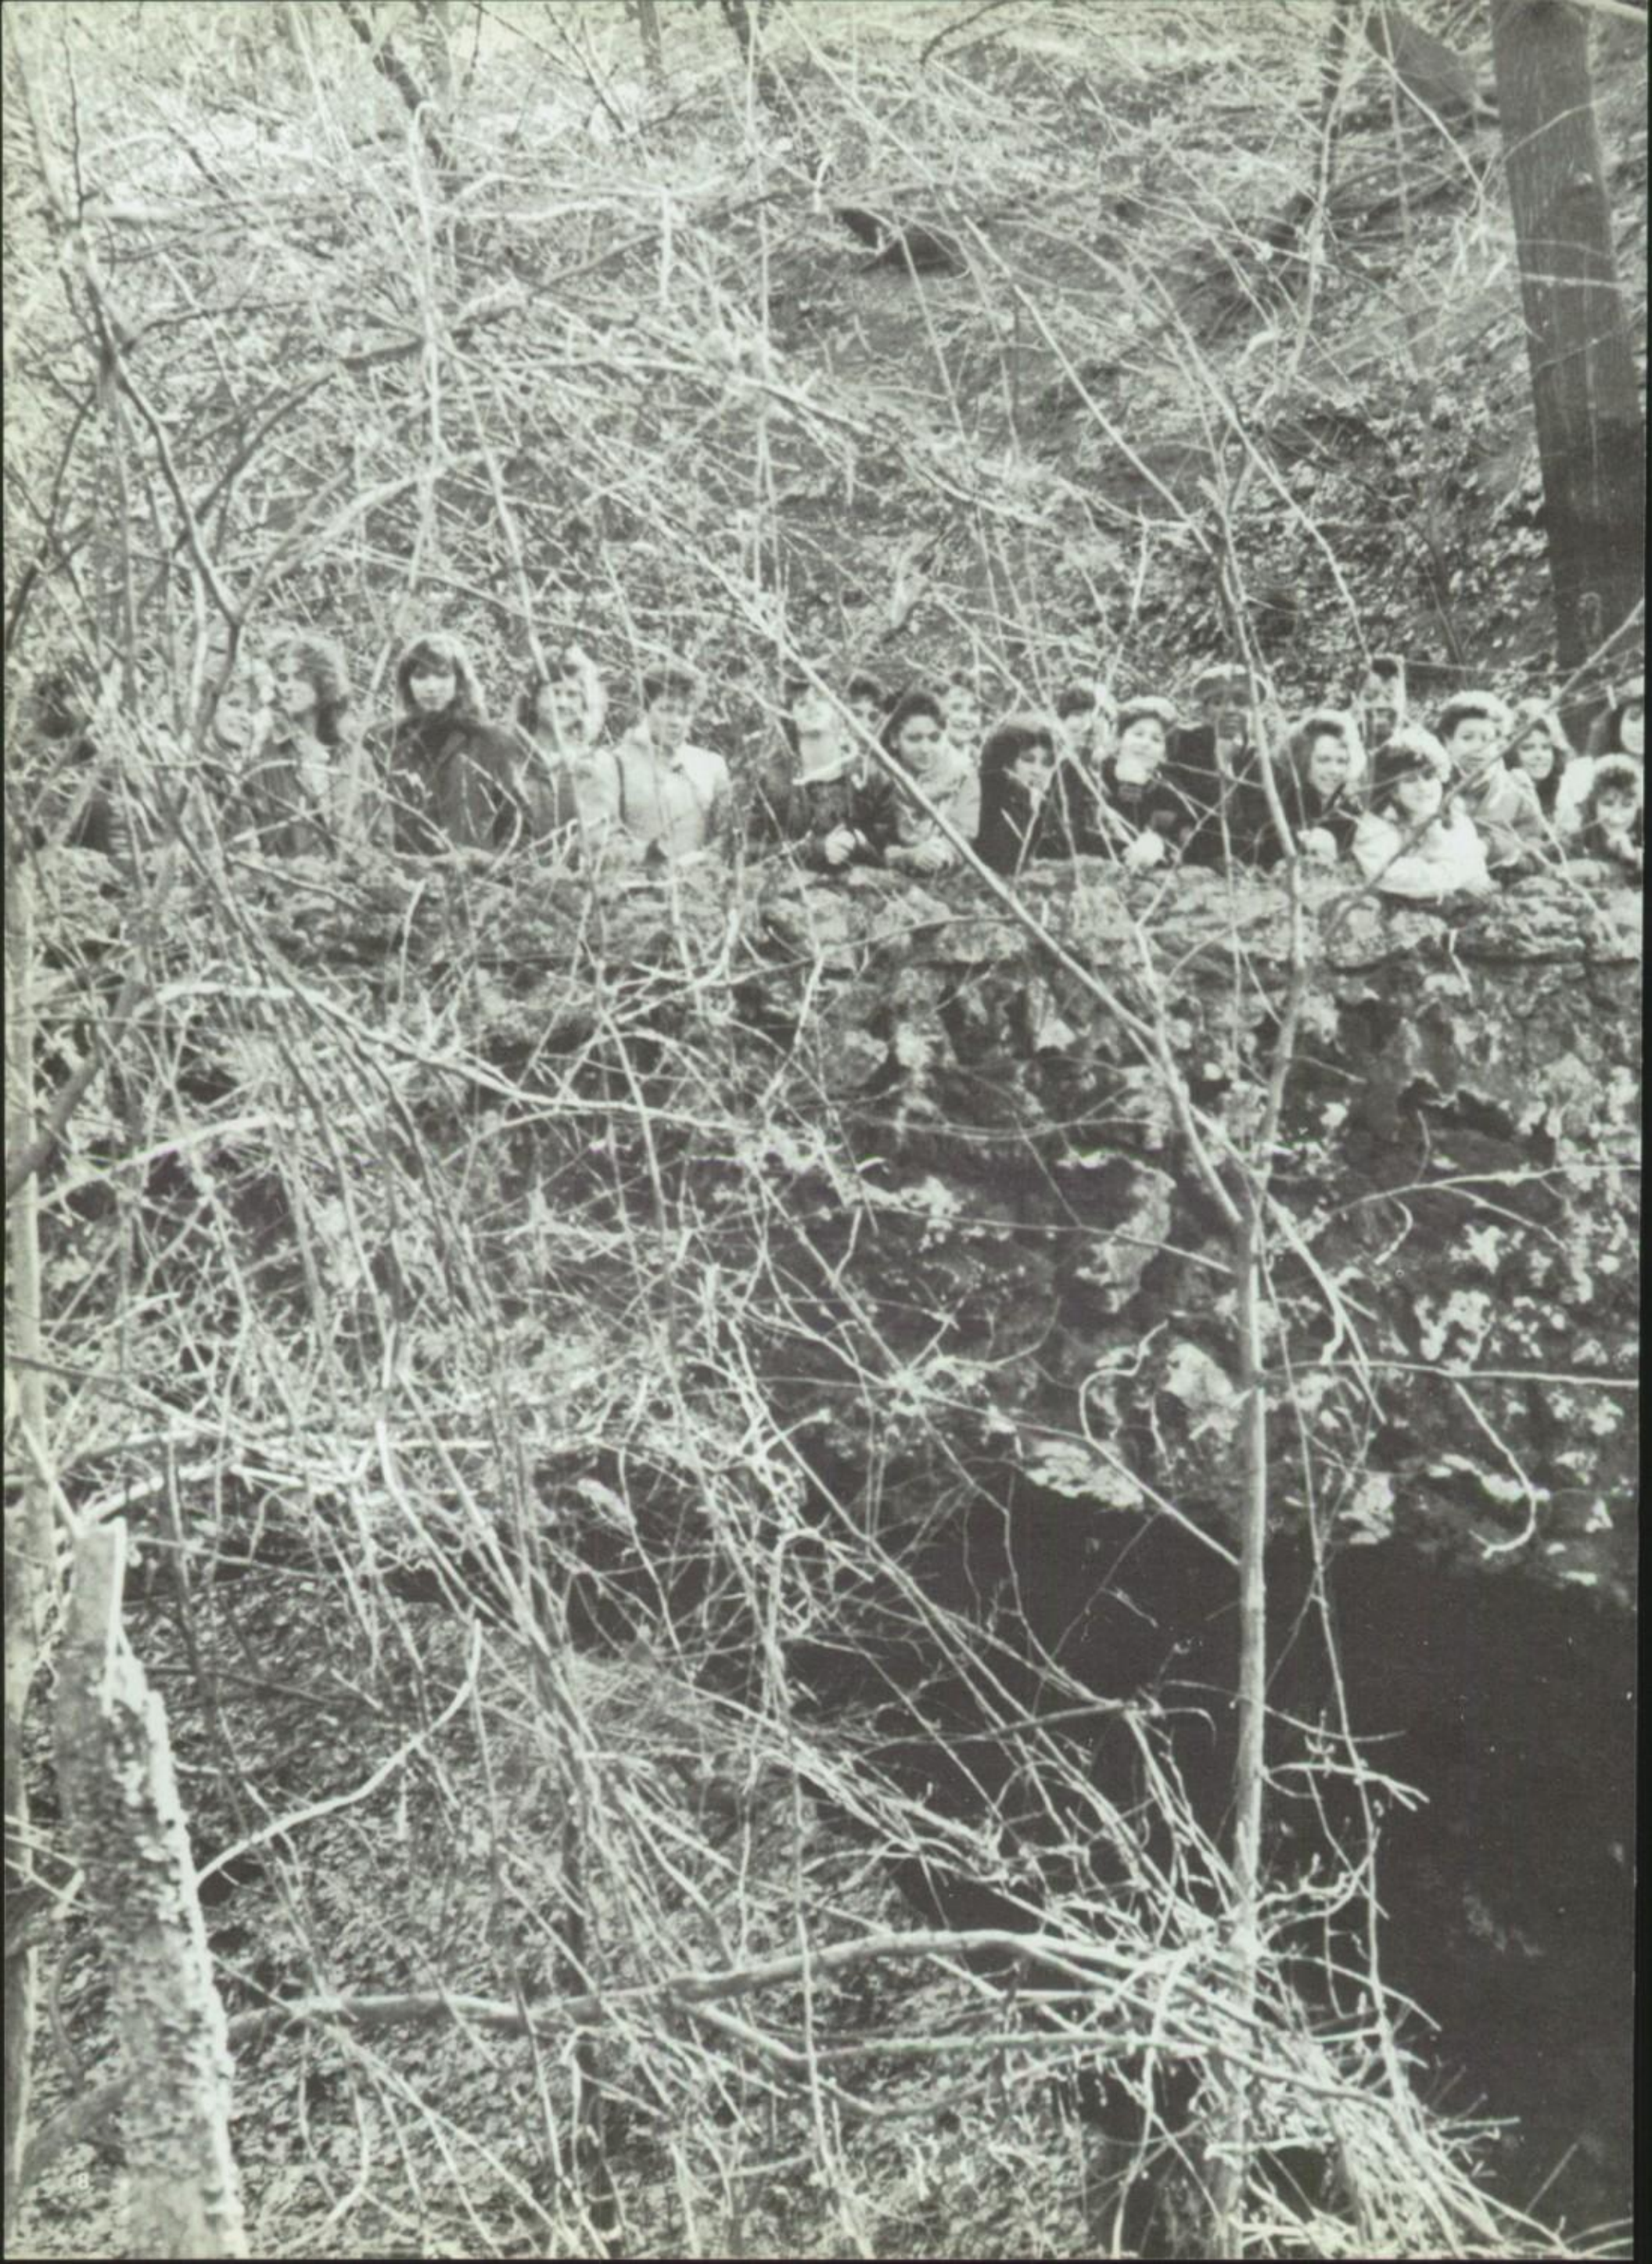

Because of their academic success, some students at CHS are able to take class at Chatham College. Pictured at left are, kneeling, T. Pisarek, swimming, W. Dayton, Dance, N. McKain, English, standing, A. Walters, History, L. Thomas, Evolution, and D. Moore, Literature. Pictured at lower left are C. Senoski, Biology, and M. Caito, Biology. Not pictured are R. Beres, Spanish, A. Crawford, History, H. Schaub, History.

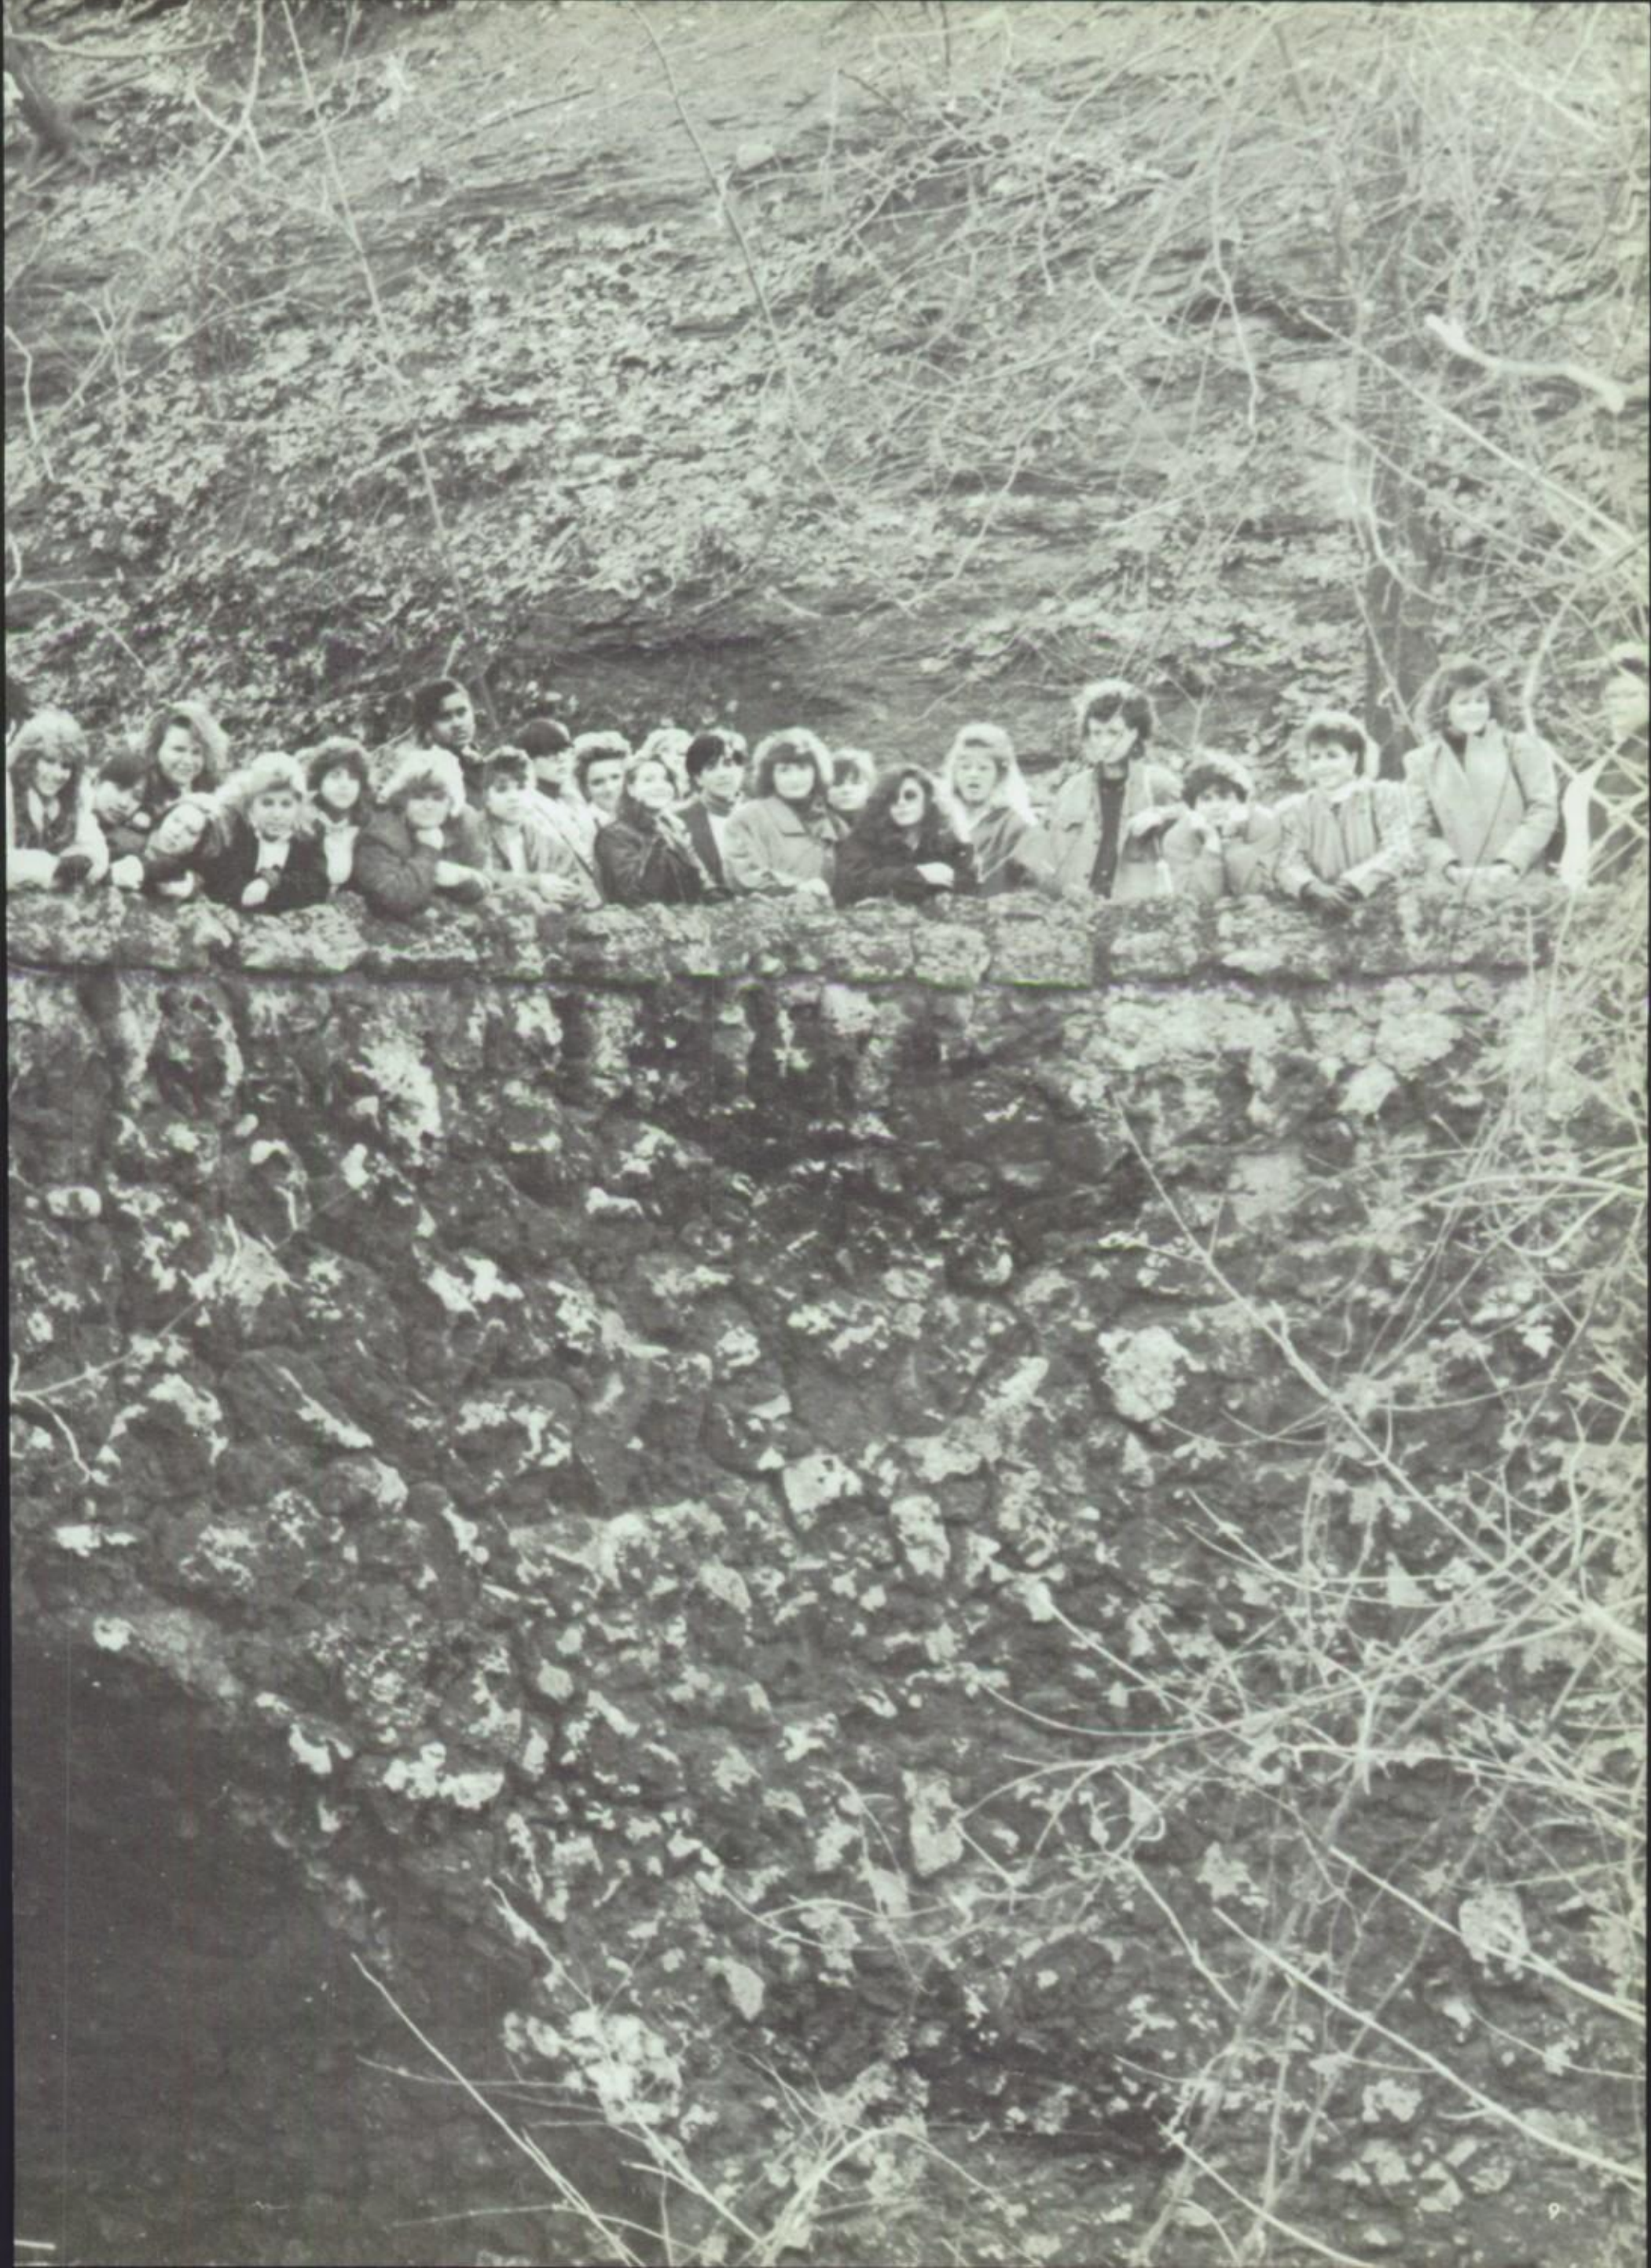

During November of 1986, senior Helen Schaub participated in the Children of War Tour. According to Helen, spending a month with kids from war-torn countries and getting the chance to talk to other teens in the Mid-West taught her more than she has ever learned in school. She is glad she got to share some of her experiences with other students in an all-school assembly here at CHS. The result of the assembly was a long list of people interested in "helping," and she has high hopes for a caring and active group based at Cathedral.

Lisa Thomas and Jen Crawford were chosen to write articles for the Pgh. Catholic, in a program begun by Mr. Hofmann

SENIORS

Speaking for the entire class of nineteen eighty-seven, the editors of the nineteen eighty-seven Book & Sword with pride, respect, and love declare these Seniors pages to be in dedication to our sister,

Gina Borrelli

Our high school years are similar to the structure of a bridge. Each of us are individual stones, dappled with uniqueness. However, regardless of our differences, we have grown in love and wisdom and have created a mortar not to be destroyed by the obstacles of life.

Overcoming the tragedy of losing a beloved stone has strengthened the mortar and has given us courage to prepare for what lies ahead. Accepting the responsibilities that have accompanied these challenging years has led us to the successful completion of our bridge. Having such an honorable foundation on which to build our futures, on May 31, 1987 we proudly process down the aisle of St. Paul Cathedral Church.

We are now able to hold our heads high and announce that we are proud to be members of the class of '87.

In Memory of Gina Borrelli

With Love,

Friends

*We go on and on
from dawn to dawn, learning to make our lives full and strong.*

*And when we're hurt
our friends are near;
always we know
that they suffer and care.*

*And when we die
they hurt deep inside
because they love us —
so much that they cry.*

*And we always remember — though tempted to regret — that we love you dearly
And will never forget
all memories we shared the last time we met.*

*And farewell, Gina, until we can share
our lives completely in each other's care.*

The transformation from a normal gymnasium to an elegant ballroom scene took only four days, thanks to the efforts of Miss Bicanich, Mrs. Nichol, and Mr. Hofmann. The prom of 1986 took place on May 2nd, and everyone had a wonderful time, "If Only For One Night."

It is amazing how Seniors get on the bus to go on their Senior retreat with so much enthusiasm, and come back so exhausted. This was the case again this year when the Seniors boarded the bus on September 25 and unloaded it on September 26.

A new retreat site was chosen this year: Youthtowne. The theme, "Commitment," was emphasized through group discussions, films, quiet reflective times, and a Liturgy held on the hillside. Later on in the evening, there was a campfire and a hayride, and the brave Seniors took a long bike after midnight. The chaperones of this adventurous group were Sr. Carol, Miss Bicanich, Mr. Hofmann, Mr. Lion, and Mr. Inserra. Father Matt Stokan, from St. Columbkille Parish near Youthtowne, also accompanied the Seniors and presided over the Mass.

One important aspect explored on this retreat was how hard it is to overcome the fear of meeting new people — of breaking out of one's normal group — and really trying to get to know other people. If the Seniors take seriously the lessons of Retreat '86, we will well meet the challenges of life's commitments by remembering to remain open-minded and open-hearted.

UNDERCLASS WOMEN

*I can't see the bridge now. I've past it.
Its shadow we drove through,
Headed out along the cold, insensitive roads
To what we wanted to call "ourselves."*

*"How does the bridge go?"
Even though you find yourself in its length,
Strung-out along its breadth,
Waiting for the cold sun to tear out your eyes.
Enamoured of its blue, spread out in the silk clubs
Of this autumn tune.
The changes are difficult
When you hear them and know they are all in you;
The chords of your disorder meddle
With your would-be disguises,
Sitting in, down, upon your head,
With the sun and the insects.*

Junior year is an exciting year. Along with being upperclassmen, Juniors are given more freedoms than Freshmen and Sophomores. Juniors are also free of the pressures of Senior year such as, "What am I going to do after high school?" and "What if I don't get accepted to my preferred college or university?" Juniors, as big sisters, welcome Freshmen into the school as their little sisters. Juniors are sure of themselves and are eager to use that self-confidence to help themselves and others. The Juniors have had an overall great year.

SOPHOMORES

As the largest class in the school, the Sophomore Class is capable of generating a great deal of class and school spirit. They have had the benefit of the friendship and example of people from the Junior and Senior Classes. As a result, most of the Sophomores honestly care about Cathedral — its building, its people, its spirit, and its future. This care is shown clearly in the fact that so many Sophomores are Cathedral Ambassadors.

With good leadership, this class will continue to grow and develop in accord with Cathedral's academic, social, and spiritual environments. The Class of '89 well represents an interesting mix of healthy student relationships and personal friendships that create the close-knit atmosphere of CHS.

FRESHMEN

The bridge from eighth grade to high school is a difficult one to cross. It includes meeting new friends and teachers, as well as getting lost in the new surroundings while trying to find oneself. It is rarely the best year of high school, but if because of freshman year there is growth as a result, then the difficulties of ninth grade are important means which justify an even more important end.

ADMINISTRATION

Bridges in Pittsburgh are usually not in outstanding shape. They are covered with potholes and mean rough-riding. The span that we call high school is not much easier to cross. It has its ups and downs, and the end always seems far away. Luckily, we receive assistance in crossing from teachers and administrators. Not only do they help us to build upon our bridges, they also help us to reach the end of our crossing by offering personal advice, academic counseling, and friendship.

YEARBOOK EDITORIAL STAFF

No one ever said putting a yearbook together is easy, but no one ever warned this year's editors and editorial staff how much time and work is involved. Under the watchful eye of Mr. Inserra, Senior editors made difficult decisions about what students would want in their yearbook, trying, to the best of their abilities, to achieve that elusive task through good selection of theme, art, pictures, captions and copy. It is the hope of all who worked to publish the '87 Book and Sword that this edition will serve always to capture the people, events, and atmosphere that created Cathedral High School in this school year. The editors hope that this yearbook will especially be a reminder of the best part of high school: Friends!

YEARBOOK BUSINESS STAFF

It is a difficult task to raise enough money to publish a yearbook, especially if it is to be a yearbook of quality. Under the direction of Sister Mary Michael Boyle, the 1987 Business Staff rose to the challenge with the help of the student body and all those individuals and businesses who chose to purchase space to advertise or acknowledge in the 1987 Book and Sword. April Hansen, Angie Sciullo, Heidi Emeloff, Chris Pollice, and all of Homeroom 206 were of special help to the process of collecting money and contracts which are vital roles of the Business Staff.

STUDENT SECRETARIES

Each year there are students who volunteer their times to help a teacher. These students are an asset to the school and to the teachers for whom they work. They are very devoted to saving the teachers much time and work. Through their experience as student secretaries they gain practice and knowledge in the field of secretarial work, as well as invaluable lessons in responsibility. Student secretaries at CHS work under the supervision of Mrs. Howard.

FBLA, Future Business Leaders of America, is a club designed for those who intend to pursue a business career. It is a national, state, and regional organization whose goals include helping students develop competent, aggressive leadership skills and to build confidence in the students' work and in themselves as well. The only requirement is that the student take one business course. If the student does well in that course, they may go on to compete in the regional or state conferences. The hoagie and chimes sales that our Cathedral Future Business Leaders sponsor help them pay for these competitions as well as for new equipment. FBLA is an organization that is found throughout the whole country and is an integral part of our academic program here at Cathedral High School. Mrs. Grayce Howard continues to moderate the FBLA organization at CHS with pride and efficiency.

CATHEDRAL CHOIR

The St. Paul Cathedral Choir has made quite a name for itself through annual school concerts and local performances. Anyone with an interest in music or singing is welcome to join the choir. The choristers spend the first semester preparing for the Christmas concert. This concert provides the choir, faculty, family, and friends with a few hours of Christmas spirit. The second semester is dedicated to the Spring concert. The music for the Spring concert varies yearly. Traditional ballads, hymns, and Broadway hits have all appeared in past concerts. This year there's some old, some new, and some songs many might not have heard at all. Regardless of what the music is, the Cathedral Choir always manages to impress its audience.

Mr. Richard Moser directs the choir for the second semester of '86-'87.

Q. What do collecting points, filling out coupons, and falling half way down the mountain during ski school have in common?

A. They are three things that you just have to try before graduating from Cathedral High School.

Q. And how did this year's Cathedralites manage to do these three things?

A. They all became Ambassadors!

Newly formed this year, the Ambassadors, a club consisting of sixty of the school's best spirited and most highly motivated students, set out to tell the world just how great Cathedral High School really is. How did they do this? In many ways. One was by helping Mr. Hofmann this year with recruiting. Another was sporting the Cathedral colors wherever they went. A third was helping out at school wherever and whenever needed. And lastly, (but no means least), by just having a great time as an active member of the St. Paul Cathedral High School family.

They worked hard; very hard. But the work paid off in the fall when the group ventured into Oakland on a fieldtrip to see Pitt put on "Grease." Winter's efforts too did not go unregarded. On the contrary; the Ambassadors all piled into a motorcoach and headed for the slopes of Hidden Valley Ski Resort. 25 of the 37 participants had never been on skis before. What a sight it was seeing these brave newcomers fight their way down the ski school slope. Even Miss B., a freshman to the slopes, gave it a shot and lived to tell about it. Through it all there was only one casualty: the fence that Gina Liberi crashed through as she rounded the final bend on the slope called "Rambler."

Spring will be no less adventuresome. A picnic at the Pittsburgh Zoo is planned, and a Banquet for the end of the year is also in the works.

Q. What's the most involved, active, and fun newly formed organization in the school?

A. The Ambassadors, of course!

STUDENT COUNCIL

In its second year of existence, the Student Council has made the school year just a little more enjoyable. By sponsoring such events as the Semi-Formal, the Christmas door decorating contest, talent shows and various student assemblies, Student Council has generated a lot of school spirit. The Student Council is made up of students willing to give up some of their time to organize activities and boost student morale as well as give representation to the student body of Cathedral High School. The heart of the Student Council this year is made up of President Karen Rollins, Vice-President LaRhonda Gray, Secretary Antonette Lombardozzi, and Treasurer Aida Khalil. Much credit and gratitude goes out to Mrs. Clougherty, Student Council's outstanding faculty moderator.

RED CROSS CLUB

The goal of the American and International Red Cross is to serve people in need. At CHS, the Red Cross Club has done that well. In October, they sponsored an eyeglass drive for the Nicaraguan poor that collected over 700 pairs of glasses. In November, they co-ordinated a canned food drive for the needy people of St. Paul Cathedral Parish. The student body responded by contributing over 700 articles of food. As in 1985, the club displayed their wonderful voices and sensitive concern by singing Christmas carols at the Southwest Mental Health/Mental Retardation Center. The Club spearheaded the disaster kit drive in February, and in May, returned to SW MN/MR to plant flowers with the handicapped clients there.

The Clubs president, Carolyn Senoski, has been very active in Red Cross programs outside of CHS. She completed the Leadership Development program and acted as a counselor at camp Kon-o-Kwee for handicapped children. Treasurer Heather Wiley and Tracey Thacher have been active at High School Council workshops on Saturdays.

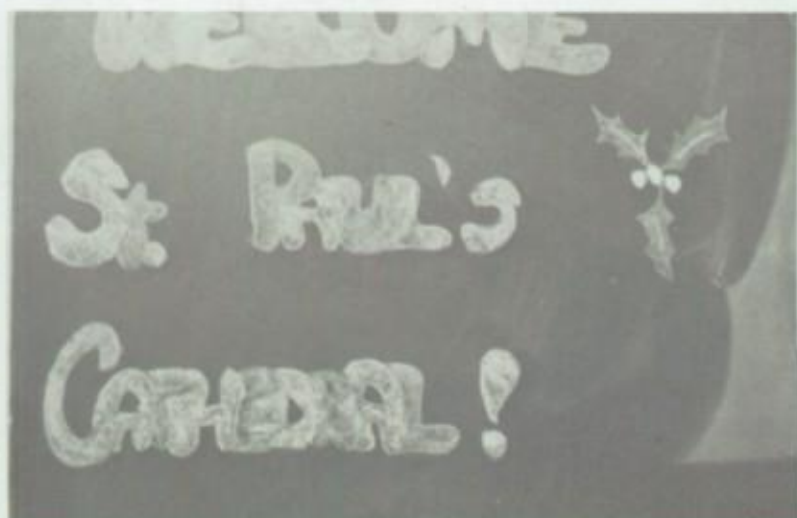

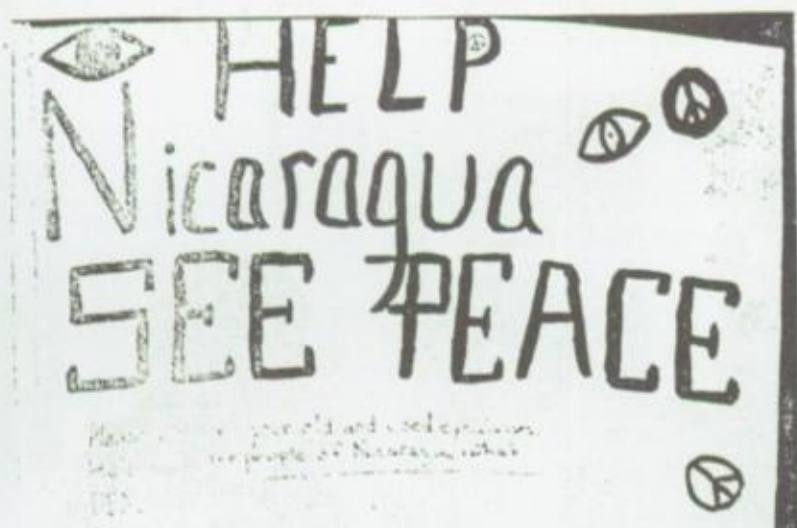

Having all Junior class members as officers, the club's plans for 87-88 may well become more extensive in scope and number.

TEEN INSTITUTE

Row 1: M. Manion, H. Booritch, J. Capezzuto, Mrs. Newlin. Row 2: M. Mackay, A. Smith.

Teen Institute is a leadership training experience conducted by professionals from the drug and alcohol abuse field. It is based on trust in the ability of young people to help themselves and their peers make responsible choices about drugs and alcohol. Teen Institute promotes alternatives to drug use and a sense of self-worth, a positive self-image, and the strength to make independent decisions based on personal preference. It is a preventive education program directed towards today's youth. The program is not a rehabilitation process. The students involved want to find alternatives to alcohol and drug abuse and encourage each other in doing so.

Thanks to the leadership of Mrs. Newlin, the Teen Institute program has been introduced to CHS, and continues to grow as a part of CHS. The formation of a Teen Institute club is in process, and the five students who attended the Institute presented its nature and purpose to an assembly of Freshmen and Sophomores who responded with great interest and enthusiasm.

National Honor Society serves to acknowledge the hard work of students with a 3.25 average of better, who also show strong achievement in service and in leadership. A larger membership is one special characteristic of this year's group. As a result, an extra effort was made for the members to get to know each other through meetings and parties. Mrs. Clougherty, moderator, is extremely proud of the number of students who earned membership in NHS. It is her hope that the number of young women who develop the mark of membership in NHS will continue to grow in the years to come.

N. H. S. O A T H

I pledge myself
to uphold the principles of my Catholic education and of the National Honor Society.
I shall do my best to be true to the ideals of St. Paul Cathedral High School, so that I may always give honor to God,
my parents and my school.

EUROPEAN TRAVEL

Despite last year's outbreaks of terrorism, four students and Miss Bicanich took to the air on June 5, 1986. They landed in Brussels, Belgium, where they boarded a bus for Paris, France. Over the next fifteen days, they roamed through Paris and traveled the French countryside in search of the Normandy Coast, the Loire castles, the beaches of Nice, wine and champagne. Their trip also included a day in Monaco, a day in Geneva, Switzerland, and a ride in a train that traveled 150 m.p.h. The weather may not have been predictable (it was 80° F in Switzerland, and it rained in the Riviera), but it is predicatable that this group would go to France again and again, given the chance to do so.

CATHEDRAL AT CENTRAL

An important part of Cathedral High School is the interaction between it and Central Catholic. Besides being involved with Central's band, cheerleaders, play, colorguard, and homecoming, more and more students take to the halls of Central Catholic for daily academic classes. In '86-87, Maria Taormina took German 4. Monica Manes and Georgia Sickenberger have Music Theory. Nancy Sciullo has A.P. Calculus and A.P. Physics, Karen Ochwat A.P. Biology and Math Analysis, Brenda Stumpf Math Analysis and Music Theory, Ann Crawford Math Analysis, while Maureen Caito, Tymberly Canale and Kim Ellis were involved after school as a part of Central's Masque Company. Students from Central enroll in Mr. Puppo's Italian course, Mr. Hofmann's Photography course, and Sister Carol's Psychology course. In short, Cathedral-Central cross-registration opens up greater possibilities for both communities; both schools gain knowledge about areas of study as well as heightened insight into and communication with each other.

COUGAR JV VOLLEYBALL

No one can call the 1986 volleyball season a failure. Mr. Hofmann, with one year's coaching experience under his belt, was able to coach with great confidence. His players demonstrated poise and confidence. An old cliché (rephrased) is apt: It's not whether you win or lose, it's how well you can win or lose. This year's team put an emphasis on the disciplined style of play they learned with some extra help from Assistant Coach Tom Fallon. Although the records may not show it, the '86 season showed that both teams are winners with their strong sense of team and individual spirit, which was never without the element of having fun while working to improve performance and record.

zo, C. Staub. Row 3: M. Woodring, G. Liberi.

Cathedral High School has always taken pride in the cheerleaders, and the 1986-87 year is no exception. Under the direction of coach and moderator Bonnie Woods, the cheerleaders always look and sound sharp. Co-captains Gina Vaccarello and Kierston Frankowski lead the way with a number of cheers that have become as much a part of the game as the players themselves: Hey, shake that thing!!!

COUGAR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Row 1: K. Michael, manager, G. Berteotti, K. McQuillan, S. Howard, L. Palfreeman, manager. Row 2: Coach Hess, L. Seibel, L. Momchilovich, K. Ellis, A. Smith, A. Crawford.

It was a difficult year for the Varsity Cougars. Although the team showed continuous improvement through the course of the year, the team was not able to gain a victory. However, first-year Head Coach Dick Hess has solid hope for next year's team to match his solid coaching philosophy.

In terms of wins and losses, the JV basketball team did not have a successful season. But, in terms of growing in experience and confidence, the season was definitely a winner. Coach Stacey Sestok feels her girls will be ready for varsity play next season.

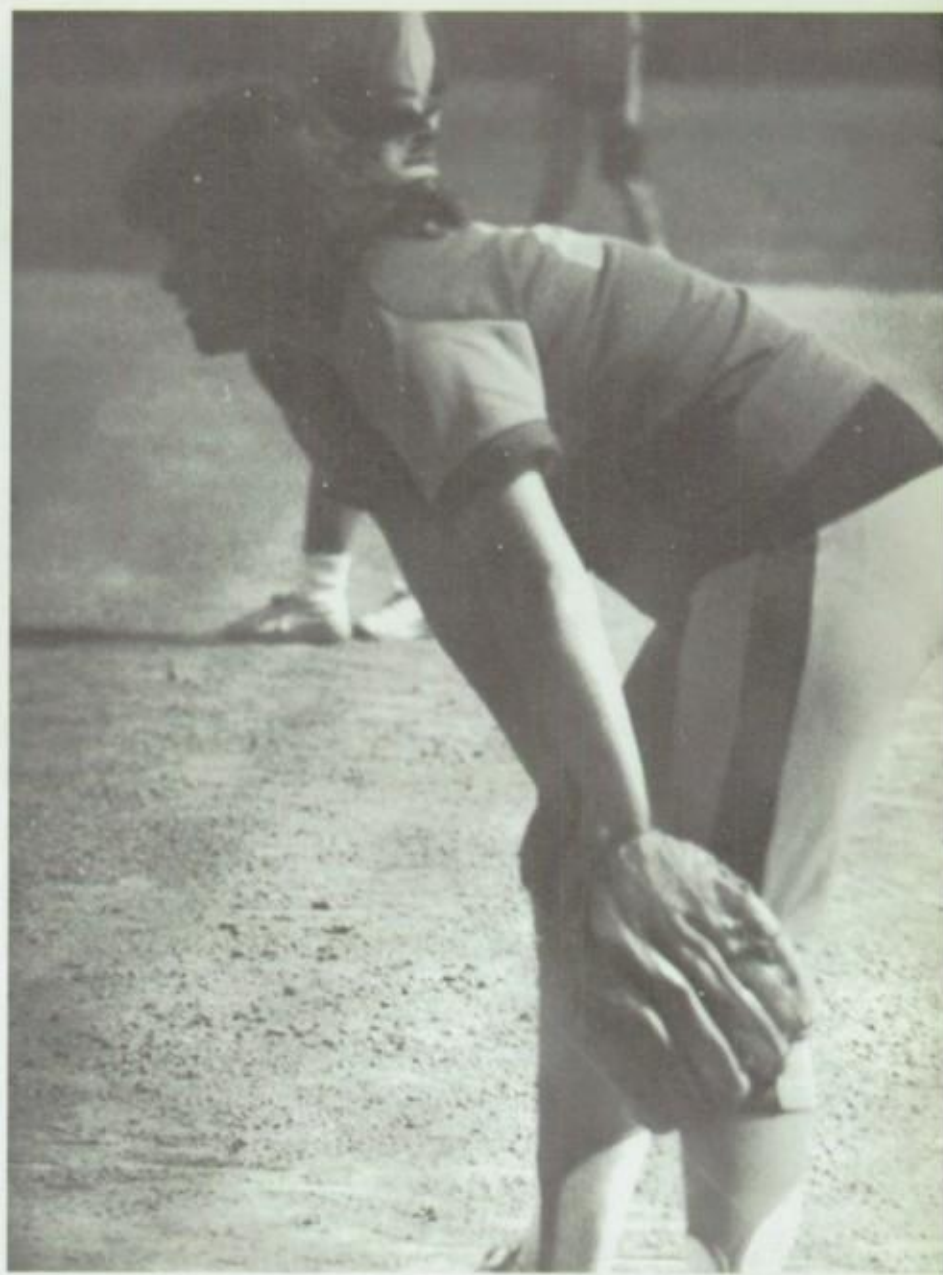

COUGAR SOFTBALL

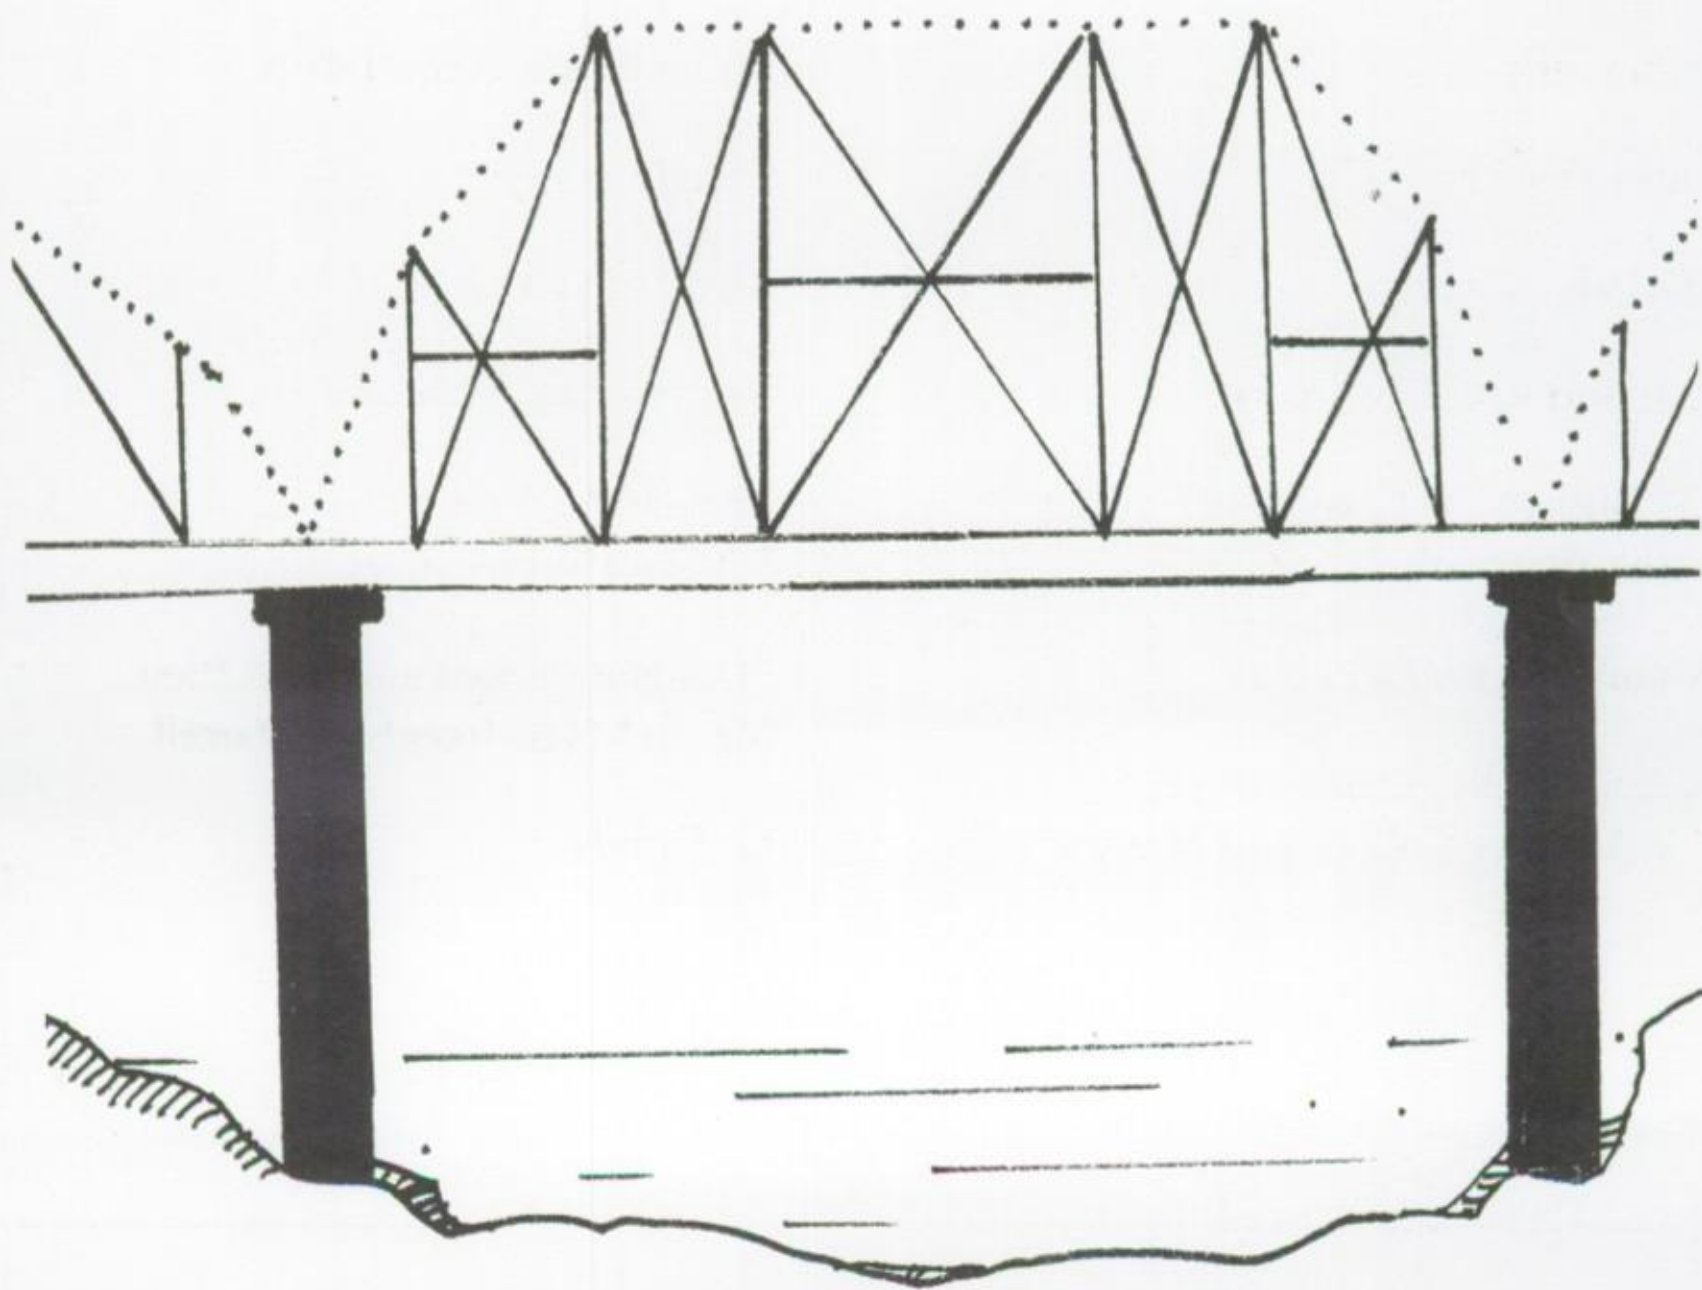

There were few shining stars in softball '86. Although the team had spirit, it was a spirit of sport for the sake of sport. The team played twelve games and Lisa Momchilovich, as the #1 pitcher, made her presence known with a good fast ball. Kelly McQuillan, often getting battered as the catcher while stopping foul-tips and sliding runners, was also a major force. Our Cathedralites did not win any of their games, but they are not ones to give up very easily. They show much promise for the 1987 season. Mr. Lion, along with his assistant, Mr. Hofmann, continue to instill a spirit of competitive sport with an emphasis on having fun.

S P O NSORS

Whether a goal is to build a bridge or to complete a yearbook, help is always needed to reach it. Help comes in many valuable forms. We would like to express our deepest gratitude to both our patrons and to those students who sold ads. Without their time and effort, this "bridge" to the past for future generations would have never been possible.

I wonder sometimes if God in heaven looks down on the people He created and asks Himself why there is so much unrest in the world. Is it because things are not truly good, as God initially thought? Or is it because man is so caught up in himself that he cannot see the possibilities allowed by the beauty and goodness of the world around?

The world is in a state of chaos. There is national unrest and grave dissent among political powers globally. This unrest threatens the world every day with the possibility of WW III. What is more frightening is the threat that this war will be nuclear. The superpowers strive to prove to each other and to the world which really is the supreme way of life by accumulating more weapons and systems to use in defense of that belief.

There is the United States, with a feeble president surrounded by scandal. There is the USSR, an authoritarian country struggling within to become more of a free society. Then there are the powers that feed off the superpowers. A world war could begin with smaller countries, such as Iran and Iraq, who cannot reconcile their differences, eventually drawing the Superpowers into direct conflict.

With the state of the world as such, all people, Americans included, must educate themselves on the vastly diverse countries of the world or be left unable to relate peacefully. As an American, I feel too many people here are so adamant in trying to stop the so-called spread of Communism that they completely ignore the danger any person or country, Communist or not, thinking or acting mistakenly so as to upset the fragile openness needed for peace. To be a positive world force, Americans must become more open to different cultures and philosophies. Our failure to do so will result in more fear, more injustice, more war.

Needless to say, there are other problematic forces affecting mankind today which are not as political or military. The number of AIDS cases is increasing at an alarming rate, as is the rate of unwanted pregnancies. Poverty and hunger continue to destroy millions of lives. The break-up of the nuclear family is a force that has made a tremendously negative impact on the lives of countless people.

With all of these world problems, I stop and ask myself: Did we do something wrong that God must punish us in this way for it? The world has been so immersed in material needs and material power that it seems we have lost a meaningful connection with spiritual needs and spiritual power. At times there seems to be no hope left. However, perhaps the real question facing us is this: Has man created these problems for himself while using God's omnipotence as an excuse for doing nothing to stop them?

Perhaps man must realize that God does love us and has not abandoned the world. Yet man also must realize that his relationship with God is not a one-sided one, that in addition to taking, he must also learn to give to the relationship for it to thrive. We cannot forget that God employs man as an instrument through which He carries out His message to bring us to a fuller understanding of his ways. If God is to be of any help in solving our problems, we must live up to our responsibility. Our responsibility is to believe in and practice openness of mind and spirit towards ourselves and others — individuals and countries — if the power of God is to heal our hurting world.

"Kids are always the only future the human race has."

William Saroyan

I am not going to directly address the problems of war, hunger, oppression, or disease. I am not going to focus on the failings of scientists, educators, politicians or religious leaders. I want to call attention to what I feel is, in many ways, the most important group of people living in our world today. My opinion may rightly be considered to be biased, yet I still can say with much conviction that is the world's young people who are this powerful and influential group.

When I say that the young have power, I do not mean the kind of power that supresses a Black majority in South Africa or the kind of power that kills millions of innocent people with a single warhead. The power of youth lies in our ability to understand the world and our rightful place in it. Our power begins in our openness to see all human beings as equal. Our power continues in our openness to question dubious pre-conceived ideas which threaten that equality. The young have this power, or have it within reach. Why then do I feel that the youth of the world have not succeeded in making the world a better place?

In my opinion, the world's youth have been too unaware and too quiet when its openness and voice must be the boldest. The young cannot sit back and expect an older generation to change our world. Would they be motivated enough, since they may not be here long enough to feel the consequences of not changing? Influential members of our government, as well as other governments, are in their seventies or eighties. They are making decisions that affect the entire world, while the voice of youth, it seems, is doing little to influence them. In the U.S., only a small percentage of eighteen-year-olds registers and votes. This is a poor testimony to a powerful voice. America's youth, together with youth everywhere, must show all nations and generations that we can be responsible.

Speaking as an American, I believe too many youth here have demonstrated too little responsibility. Witness the alarming rate of teenage pregnancies or teenage driving accidents involving alcohol. The statistics do not show us to be responsible. When young people pollute or vandalize, as often occurs in even wealthy areas, they don't act responsibly towards the world. Rather than choosing to ruin that which we don't respect, youth must themselves become worthy of respect as part of reforming that which we may not deem worthy of our respect. We, as today's youth, need to begin to acknowledge our power, vocalize our feelings, and constructively demonstrate that we can handle responsibility. It will then be the responsibility of our leaders, parents, and teachers generation to listen to us and respect us, just as it shall be the responsibility of our younger friends, siblings, and children to make us hear them through their responsible awareness, voice, and actions.

Humanity is a terrible thing to waste. It is my conviction that the youth of the world must unite in acknowledging our power and the responsibility that goes with it if we are to gain the respect of the powers that be. I see in us, the young, the most powerful hope for saving our very endangered species.

Senior's Best of '86-'87

Best Movie — "Stand By Me"

Not only is it a classic song by Ben E. King, it is also a classic movie about youth for the young and the young at heart.

Best TV Show — "Moonlighting"

It relaxes our Tuesday nights by showing the humorous and more innocent aspects of lust.

Best Male Singer — Jon Bon Jovi

He is best known for his looks, his voice, his looks, his hair and . . . did I mention his looks?

Best Female Singer — Whitney Houston

She believes the children are our future and by the looks of things, she has a very bright future in music.

Best Group — Bon Jovi

It figures that a group who has a hit song called "Living on a Prayer" would be number one in a Catholic School.

Best Album — "License to Kill"

Most parents don't like this album very much. So, not only do you have to fight for your right to party, you have to fight for your right to listen to the Beastie Boys.

Sports Figure — Mario Lemieux

He definitely is the best looking man in sports, and he's not a bad hockey player either.

News Event — Iranscam

It turned our attention to the government and made us question who is really in charge and how much the government is really telling us.

Event at CHS — The Senior Retreat and Graduation

One event pulls friends together, and the other hopefully won't pull friends apart.

Sports Event — The America's Cup

We were finally able to recapture the Cup from Australia in what has been called the "pinnacle of yachting."

Entertainer — Bruce Willis

Not only is he one of the stars of "Moonlighting," he is also trying to become accomplished at harmonica playing and at singing.

Kassie,

Sorry we couldn't be together this year.
Next year we'll make up for all the trouble that we missed this year. Except for the administrators having this grudge against people from Penn Hills Luby? Who knows?
It doesn't seem like you had too bad a year. Seems like everything worked out for the best with Daudi. I'm glad about that. You're my very best friend and cousin, don't forget that! I don't believe people actually believed that we were cousins! People can believe anything! We've got away with so much this year and we hopefully can get away with a lot more! After all, both of us together can spell big T-R-O-U-B-L-E! Now, ain't that the truth!
Just think. Next year we'll see the juniors & seniors! Yeah! They have to be better looking than anyone at Denton now! We'll get into trouble cause I know us! Even though we don't mean to, trouble seems to follow us hand in hand! Remember to party & stay crazy (with me, of course.)

Love,
Michael
